Location:

Unknown

↑
The worst thing about this arch-villain is his sinister grin...

Sinking his teeth into the Agency

The Agency's ultimate enemy, Big Beaver likes to watch people suffer and loves tackling the impossible. It's an explosive mix that makes him a formidable creature, one that can patiently and meticulously develop the most diabolical of plans. He is the most unpredictable criminal the Agency has ever taken on.

Genetic oddity

There are so many mysteries surrounding Big Beaver! Not enough is known about this legendary adversary, and what is known is troubling: he has unparalleled strength and stamina, and twisted intelligence that is thus far unmatched. Even his genes seem more evolved and complex than those of other living creatures. What makes them special? Our leading scientists have no idea...

How old is Big Beaver?

Who would think that such a simple question could cause so much debate among experts! He has been putting a spanner in the Agency's works for so long that he must be over 60 years old. Some people say he is 100 years old, which is hard to believe given how spry and in good physical shape he is. Others go so far as to say that he is as old as the Agency, if not older! But that's just ridiculous. This is real life, not the comics.
